

HUMANITY SOLUTIONS

A world in transition

The world is changing faster and faster. We all have to deal with climate change and the effects of globalization and automation one way or another. This also means that many of us struggle even to predict where we will be 10 years from now. These uncertainties can create financial bubbles, knee jerk reactions, or a desperate search for quick win extraction. For many of us, and understandably so, the underlying anxiety can also give us an all too narrow tunnel vision, or make us choose personal short term benefits over longer term considerations.

Luckily there are people and organizations that are in a position to take a broader view. They may simply care more about others, or have the courage to take more risks working on solutions that can make a positive difference. Unfortunately, those who do, often do so at their own peril. For many, it also threatens their savings for a rainy day.

Do you want to help your community members, partners, employees, or clients with their more risky or altruistic decisions moving forward? Do you want to make sure they can have more time to innovate consciously and find an extra support network, interesting assets, and more solid grounds to work from?

Who we are

We are dedicated to empower people and organizations working for the benefit of humanity by supporting the more risk taking or altruistic members of our precious species. With that in mind, we have been constructing a combination of a campaign catalyst platform to create supportive communities and some sort of extra pension scheme for the noble if you will. Both elements have the intention to encourage more people to work for the good of humanity. Because we are also convinced that the arc of history turns towards the good guys in the - not too distant - end, this also means that the combined assets we are building also make for a very lucrative investment portfolio.

Our Solution

We have a network of role models, experts, methods, and properties that can help organizations facing difficult transitions to keep moving forward. We do that by offering them very concrete stepping stones that can serve as a launch pad for the future most of us hope for. Working with us will also help you learn about what seem like the most viable ways forward, faster.

The stepping stones can be:

- a web of domain names and first websites related to your strategy
- concrete financing requests

Call to action

Help us develop a springboard for the noble. Become a partner or investor. Inspire others. Help yourself.

You can partner with us to boost your initiative, work with us as a volunteer or support us financially with a donation today. Send us mail at connectwithus@humanitysolutions.net, or visit our website humanitysolutions.net for more information.